The World Travel Market 2015 London It's ready to go

WTM will open the gates on November 2nd

London, 22.10.2015, 10:15 Time

USPA NEWS - World Travel Market London 2015, the leading global event for the travel industry will be hosting a lively and insightful competition between European and American tourism leaders. The first time this exhibition was opened by the Duke of Kent in the 1980.

World Travel Market London 2015, the leading global event for the travel industry, together with international travel & hospitality marketing communications agency MMGY Global will be hosting a lively and insightful competition between European and American tourism leaders who will battle it out for the chance to walk away as winners of the inaugural MMGY Tourism Cup. The MMGY Tourism Cup competition, inspired by well-known international golf competitions, the Ryder Cup and the Solheim Cup, will match a team of European travel and tourism leaders against their American counterparts in a debate-style forum that will cover topics shaping today's tourism industry.

The inaugural debate will utilise current research, insights and case studies to test the two teams' tourism knowledge. Eduardo Santandar, CEO and Executive Director of the European Travel Commission will captain a group that faces off against a team led by Todd Davidson, U.S. Travel Association National Chair, CEO of Travel Oregon as they compete in four entertaining rounds. The one-hour session will be moderated by MMGY Global Vice Chairman Peter Yesawich and co-hosted by the sponsoring company Adara, featuring the organization's Vice President of Resort and Destination Analytics, Ted Sullivan.

Additional team competitors will include Joss Croft, CMO, Visit Britain; Mark Henry, Central Marketing Director, Tourism Ireland; Ida Gutiérrez de Escofet, SVP Corporate Affairs, CSR and Communication, NH Hotel Group; Tam Pigott, Executive Director, The Beaches of Ft. Myers and Sanibel; Barry Goldstein, Chief Digital & Distribution Officer, Wyndham Hotel Group; and Rob Torres Managing Director, Travel, Google. The friendly competition will also be raising money and awareness for the international water aid organisation, Just a Drop. WTM London delegates in the audience will be encouraged to vote and share information in an effort to raise the donation from MMGY Global and event sponsor Adara toward the worthy cause.

World Travel Market London, Conference and Seminar Manager, Charlotte Sutton said: "This is an exciting new addition to the WTM London Event Programme for 2015, the first time WTM London has done anything like this. "It will be great to see how the two teams battle it out in each of the rounds and draw from their collective intelligence, as well as their collective influence in the industry. This competition will benefit not just the delegates in the audience but also raise awareness for Just a Drop, the water aid charity that World Travel Market London fully supports year-round." The MMGY Tourism Cup Competition will take place on Tuesday 3 November at WTM London on the WTM Global Stage from 16.15 - 17.15.

Almost 51,500 senior travel industry professionals, government ministers and international press, embark on ExCeL London every November to network, negotiate and discover the latest industry opinion and trends at WTM. WTM London, now in its 36th year, is the event where the travel industry conducts and concludes its deals. WTM 2014 will generate around £2.5 billion of travel industry contracts.

The WTM 2015 will be open at the following dates:

Mon 2 Nov: 10:00 - 18:00

Tues 3 Nov: 10:00 - 18:00

Wed 4 Nov: 10:00 - 18:00
